

OVER HALF A MILLION INVESTED IN AUTOS

Tonopah has a greater percentage of autos and a larger garage area than any town of its size in the United States. Records show 225 cars credited to residents of Tonopah and 125 more to the residents of Round Mountain and Manhattan. Based on a population of 7000, a very high estimate, would give an adult population of 4800 men and women, which is much higher average than that allowed by the census reports. According to the latter, Tonopah would have a grown up census of 4600. On the basis of 225 cars actually operated in Tonopah this allows one car to every 21 adults. Or, by adding the Manhattan and Round Mountain figures, it would give as ownership of one car to every 15 adults.

This city has four garages with a measured floor space of 20,175 square feet, employing 13 mechanics, with a storage capacity of 95 machines, and carrying in stock automobiles, accessories and machinery of $42,945. The Tonopah Auto Supply company is the largest, having a floor space of 6340 feet and carrying an average stock of $20,045. The Tourist garage has a floor space of 6000 square feet; the Midland, 4875 square feet, and the Bertram, 4500 square feet. The total value of machines owned in Tonopah, Manhattan and Round Mountain is estimated at $315,000, while the total valuation of machines owned in the county is over half a million dollars.

KANSAS REVOLTS OVER HANGING ORDERED BY THE FEDERAL COURT

(By Associated Press.)

TOPEKA, Kan., July 21.—The order by Judge John C. Pollock of the United States district court of Kansas, sentencing Robert E. Stroud, a prisoner in the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, to death by hanging for the murder of Andrew F. Turner, a prison guard, has caused much comment about legal hangings in Kansas. The court's order, which was issued some time ago, stated that Stroud should be executed July 21 on the Fort Leavenworth military reservation, which is United States property.

Not since August, 1870, when William Dickson was hanged in the jail yard at Leavenworth, has there been a legal hanging within the borders of the state, according to records at the Kansas State Historical society here. This fact was made possible, it was pointed out, by the "conscience" law followed by every governor in Kansas which precluded the signing of death warrants. In 1907 the Kansas legislature made this law a fact and abolished capital punishment in the state. Up to that time it was possible to give murderers a "one year and hang" sentence under a law passed in 1868. The legislators at that time, accounts read, decided that the maximum punishment for murder should be one year of hard labor in the state penitentiary and then death by hanging.

Records at the Kansas penitentiary at Lansing today show there are fourteen prisoners who are serving "one year and hang" sentences, having been saved from death by the "conscience" law. All of these prisoners are men, the only woman hang prisoner, Mollie Stewart, having been paroled by Gov. Arthur Capper in September, 1915.
